MAIL STOP MISSING REQUIREMENTS

SIR:

In the above-identified patent application, applicants have received a Notification Of Missing Requirements Under 35 USC 371, copy enclosed.

This Notice states that a translation of the application into English must be furnished or a processing fee of $130 will be required. Applicants have already supplied the English translation of the application, as evidenced by the attached copy of the return receipt postcard, the Certificate of Express Mailing and the application transmittal letter. The Notice also states that the number of claims shown in the English translation of the application is different to the number of claims shown in the International Application. However, in the English translation, applicants have removed the improper use of multiple dependent claims and added the relevant new claims. Accordingly, there are more claims in the English translation than in the International Application to avoid multiple dependent claims.

It is also stated in the Notification of Missing Requirements that the oath and Declaration of the inventors is missing. However, a properly signed Oath and Declaration of the inventors was submitted with the initial filing of the application on August 17, 2006. This is evidenced by the enclosed copy of applicants return receipt postcard (stamped received by the U.S. Patent Office) as well as the enclosed copy of applicants Certificate of Express Mailing and the copy of the transmittal letter. A further copy of this Oath and Declaration is again enclosed herewith.

To show that no new matter was added as a result of the difference in the number of claims in the English translation and the International Application, a Preliminary Amendment is herewith included verifying the amendments.

Accordingly, it is respectfully submitted that no further fees are, in fact, due on this application as all requirements – English translation of application and Declaration of Inventors – have previously been met and are evidenced in this submission. However, authorization is given to deduct any necessary fees from applicants Deposit Account No. 503814.

Respectfully submitted,
